

The Chile Chico

July 2014 - Vol. 41

A typical sunset on Petoskey State Park in upper Michigan

I've had people tell me that Tumpline Ministries trips are too rigorous and that's why they don't participate. Well...you really missed out on a beautiful, relaxing, and enjoyable trip. We just got back from bicycling in northern Michigan. There were miles of level paved bicycle trails lining the coast of Lake Michigan. We had the group campsite all to ourselves and spend the day exploring the resort towns of Petoskey and Harbor Spring. Our morning would start with pancakes followed by a five mile bike ride to the town where we explored such things as a chocolate factory, sipped gourmet coffee in a nice sidewalk café, and bicycled past beautifully restored turn-of-the-century mansions. In the afternoon, we would lie on the white sandy beach and soak up the sun. Not too shabby!

Evenings would be spent enjoying the campfire, gorge ourselves on smores, Bible study, and watching the best sunsets. Not a bad way to spend a summer evening....nor the least bit tired from the rigors of travel!! Next time, join us!

In His service,
Dan and Jan
